

HB514: Permit Municipal Charter School/Certain Towns. This bill would allow Cornelius, Huntersville, Matthews, and Mint Hill, majority white suburbs of Charlotte, to create their own charter schools. Further, they will be permitted to restrict access to local residents. In the recently passed budget amendments, a related provision (38.8) allows local municipalities to use (and raise) property taxes to fund schools. It is worrisome that this will exacerbate existing segregation and inequality. Charlotte is already experiencing high levels of segregation. Additionally, taxpayers could see increases in tax bills as localities take on school funding responsibilities. Many public school advocates think these related pieces of legislation will eventually be found unconstitutional. Also troubling is worry that this legislation could return North Carolina back to a time when the quality of education was inequitably distributed based on one's zip code. On June 6, 2018, the N.C. House approved HB 514 with a 64-53 vote. Ordered enrolled, ratified Ch. SL 2018-3. Public school advocates have serious concerns about segregation, inequity. It is being treated as a local law and therefore does not require the governor's signature.

HB 965 would force all public schools to display the national motto "In God We Trust" in "at least one prominent location of each school. The proposed bill, titled the National and State Mottoes in Schools Act, has generated differing opinions. Some see the move as a political attempt to gain conservative votes during a contentious midterm election season. Some see it as a positive, innocuous step, meant to teach U.S. history. Others worry it is the start of a dangerous trend that could blur the separation of church and state. As Stu Egan noted in his online column, all four of the bill's primary sponsors are members of the Congressional Prayer Caucus Foundation, a conservative group aligned with the religious right and focused on preserving "religious liberty". In their detailed document, otherwise known as "Project Blitz," they outline plans for legislation and sophisticated strategies for implementing their agenda. It begins with requiring the display of the national motto in all schools. As noted by Frederick Clarkson, a Senior Research Analyst at Political Research Associates, "The bills are seemingly unrelated and range widely in content—from requiring public schools to display the national motto, "In God We Trust" (IGWT); to legalizing discrimination against LGBTQ people; to religious exemptions regarding women's reproductive health." He compares this strategy to that used by large corporations in ALEC-created legislation. We certainly hope this is not the start of an agenda that would seriously hurt some of our most vulnerable student populations. This bill passed the second reading in the house with a 94-15 vote. It has been referred to the Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate.

HB 273 Charter Schools in State Health Plan. HB 976, titled Extreme Risk Protection Orders. The legislation set forth in this bill would temporarily restrict an individual's access to firearms only if there was evidence that the individual intended to harm themselves or others. The text of this draft bill reminds us that every year 100,000 people are victims of gunshot wounds, and of that number, 30,000 are fatally injured. In almost every instance of mass shootings in recent news, reports have come forth that others were aware of the shooter's intent. Even if that information is known, there is little law enforcement can do to restrict a dangerous individual's access to weapons. We support red flag laws such as this, which have been proposed and passed in several other states such as Florida, Maryland, Vermont, and Delaware. The stated purpose of the proposed legislation is to reduce gun deaths and injuries WHILE respecting constitutional rights. We think this is an extremely reasonable bill. Disappointingly, just one day after filing, this common-sense proposal was sent to the rules committee without a discussion. The equivalent senate bill, SB 734 was filed on May 23

HB 988/SB 731 Extend Pilot/Virtual Charter School. This bill extends the virtual charter pilot program for four more school years. Notably, both virtual schools were low performing according to state assessment data in recent testing years. Filed 5/22/18, passed 1st reading, referred to Education Committee

HB 1081 Transfer of School Support Personnel Funds. This bill would prohibit the transfer of funds allocated for school nurses, psychologists, social workers, and school resource officers unless they are sent to another local board of education for the same purpose. Filed 5/31/18

SB 531 School Boards Can't Sue Counties

This bill would prohibit local boards of education from filing legal actions challenging the sufficiency of the funding from local boards of county commissioners. This bill was re-referred to the House Committee on Finance on 6/6/18.

SB 15 ISD and Local Board Contracting Changes

On Tuesday, June 5th, the House Education K-12 Committee gave a favorable report to a proposed committee substitute (PCS) of this bill. This PCS makes several changes to the Innovative School District (ISD) Including:

- Require that the State Board of Education select potential innovative schools by November 15th.
- Require that local boards of education respond to selection by December 15th with either a closure plan or a resolution to transfer the school into the ISD.
- Give first priority to the IS operator in capital expenditures.
- Dictates the timeline for a memorandum of understanding between the IS operator and local board of education is now 45 days.
- The ISD superintendent must now approve the principal of any innovative school.
- Teachers will retain career status, such as tenure, if their school becomes an innovative school.
- Allowing schools that have pursued a reform model such as restart to be considered for inclusion in the ISD.

- Increase the number of schools the ISD superintendent may select per year from 1 to 2. This increase would take effect in the 2021-22 school year and would only be allowed if existing ISD schools that have been in the program three or more years have earned a grade C or higher.
- Eligible schools for the innovation zone are allowed, rather than required to become an innovate school.
- Allows local boards of education in smaller districts to contract with the spouse of the superintendent.

SB 718 Revise Principal Compensation This bill attempts to amend inadequacies of the 2017 principal pay plan by making adjustments and providing a bonus schedule. Some highlights of this bill are as follows: the maintenance of principals' current salary for the remainder of 2018, redefining a demotion to exclude any reduction in pay resulting from the new pay scale, a combination of previously separate bonuses into one for principals at schools in the top 50% for measured school growth, and doubling the bonus amount for eligible principals who supervise schools previously at the D or F level. Filed 5/16/18. Passed first reading, referred to Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate

SB 726 titled Go Big for Early Education. Sponsored by Senators Jackson, Foushee & Waddell, this bill would provide increased funds for the NC Pre-K Program and North Carolina Partnership for Children, increase the reimbursement rate for NC Pre-k slots by 3% in fiscal year 2018-2019, and provide a tax credit for eligible early education directors and teachers. The bill appropriates the following amounts for each fiscal year:

2019-2020 $104,582,345
2020-2021 $121,287,673
2021-2022 $137,991,673
2022-2023, and each year after $154,695,673

Additionally, for the next five years, funding for North Carolina Partnership for Children will be increased by $20 million dollars.

The refundable tax credits set forth in this legislation are determined by service years and educational attainment.

Tax credits range from $500-$2,000 depending on qualifications. SB 726 would help ensure more eligible children are enrolled in Pre-K programs and it would attract more well-qualified teachers to the field with tax incentives. Quality Early childhood education builds the foundation for a strong future, one all our children deserve. We are pleased to see this proposed legislation. Filed 5/21/18, passed 1st reading, referred to Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate

SB 737 Safer Schools, Healthier Kids Act. This bill would authorize temporary restriction of access to firearms for persons exhibiting an intent to harm others or themselves. Would also require a permit to purchase an assault weapon or long gun, prohibit the sale of these weapons to persons under a certain age, prohibit the sale of bump stocks and similar devices and appropriate funds for the anonymous tip line and public safety improvements. Filed 5/23/18, passed 1st reading, referred to Committee on Rules and Operations of the Senate
